One of the strategies of the BOCES Strategic Plan focuses on creativity and risk-taking in the workplace. This strategy will result in increased emphasis on the encouragement of identifying a problem or a need, and in seeking creative solutions. We also know that many people are already creatively addressing problems, and taking risks to change, modify, improve, or develop the most appropriate and highest quality programs and services possible. The following are suggested criteria for determining the eligibility of recipients:

- Demonstrates creativity
- Challenges the system
- Exhibits leadership qualities
- Works above and beyond the regular job duties
- Supports and extends the BOCES mission

Strategy...
Transform the BOCES culture so that employees are positive leaders fostering creativity and risk-taking in pursuit of our mission.

End Result...
A culture exists that promotes creativity while minimizing rules, regulations, policies, and procedures which present obstacles.
